OFFICE OF THE MINNESOTA SECRETARY OF STATE

About Election Judges

Election judges (poll workers) are paid officials who staff local polling places, carry out election procedures, and make sure that the rights of voters are protected. During a general election, there are more than 30,000 election judges who staff more than 4,100 precincts.

Serving as an election judge is a chance to learn about elections, and is a great service to the community.

Requirements, Wages and Time Off From Work

- You must be eligible to vote in Minnesota and be able to read, write and speak English.
- You must complete an election judge training course (at least two hours).
- Election judges can choose to volunteer or be paid. Wages vary by city.
- Employers are required to give employees time off to work as an election judge.

- U.S. citizen in good academic standing at a Minnesota high school (or home schooled).

Like other judges, they do not have to serve the entire day; they cannot work past 10 p.m. Trainees are assigned the same duties as other judges, with the exception of tasks requiring party affiliation.
